

MOSES YEARBOOK TRAINING – 2020

27-9-3 exercise: Why is MOSES important to me?

“27-9-3” is a short reminder that a good “elevator speech” should be no more than 27 words; you should be able to say it in 9 seconds; and it should contain no more than 3 ideas. Even if you have a longer interaction, this is the core message

Think of the person you are approaching, and of what you know about their interests. Then, as yourself: “What do I want them to know? What do I want them to feel? What do I want them to do?” (Your “27-9-3” can be different for different people.)

I am a member of MOSES because _____ (here, the more “emotional” the reason, the better – the reason you feel you should be part of this, not something theoretical or abstract)

It is important for MOSES to succeed because _____ (here, you can be more “logical”, but keep it to 1 thing, or 2 if necessary)

Tips regarding Ad Sales

- Your product is MOSES – not the Yearbook. There is value to the ad: it gets your name and message to an important audience; it is a tax deduction. But, those things make it a more efficient donation to MOSES: it is probably not the best advertising investment possible for them. So, your primary “pitch” is about MOSES, and why this is a great group to invest in.
- You are not begging for help – you are inviting an investment in a strong, vibrant, interesting organization. Your “product” is a very good one – it is worth your investment of time, energy and money; it is worth theirs, too.
- Be sure to listen. Get a sense of their interests, how they think things are going in the community, how their business is coming along. Don’t force it, but be sure to ask a few questions – then pay attention to what they tell you.
- Ask for something. Be specific (e.g. “I’d would hope you can buy a half-page ad in our book”) and direct. They can always say no, or perhaps offer less. But, you need to ask for something. If they say they need to think about it, ask when you should check back with them.
- Don’t worry about people saying “no.” They might agree next year. And, if we ask 150 people to buy ads, but only 1/3 of them agree, we will have sold 50 ads! And, most ad buyers become repeat ad buyers – most will easily agree to buy another next year, and the next.
- Be grateful, and be very sure you are very clear about the next step. (e.g., “So, you will mail in the check and send the ad by e-mail by...” or, “I’ll call you next Tuesday morning to learn what kind of ad you will be able to buy.” Or, “I’ll check with you early in 2021 about next year’s book, so you can be sure it is in your budget...”)
